Joy in the Journey ~ Michael Card

*There is a joy in the journey
There's a light we can love on the way.
There is a wonder and wildness to life
And freedom for those who obey.
And all those who seek it shall find it,
A pardon for those who believe.
Hope for the hopeless
And sight for the blind.*

*To all who've been born of the Spirit
And who share incarnation with Him
Who belong to eternity stranded in time
And weary of struggling with sin:
Forget not the hope that's before you
And never stop counting the cost
Remember the hopelessness
When you were lost*

*There is a joy in the journey
There's a light we can love on the way.
There is a wonder and wildness to life
And freedom for those who obey.
And freedom for those who obey.*

Joy in the Journey - 5

Our Journey at ENC

Looking back over the last few years, the time I've spent here at ENC, I realize it has indeed been a journey. Each of us is traveling through our journeys of life, and part of that journey is our time spent together here at college. College is just one point in the journey, but such an important point.

There has been much "Joy in the Journey" for me here at ENC. I know if each one of us looks back on our time spent at college, whether we've been here for only 2 months or for 4 or 5 years, we will find that we have many happy memories we've made here at ENC and these are the memories I remember most. I thank God so much for leading me to this college. Cherish each day of your journey at ENC, whether you are starting or ending your time here. This yearbook is a visual representation of our journey together through the 1997-1998 school year, and I hope that through it, each of you will remember the joy you have found along the journey.

Journeying through the year

A Word From Our Chaplain, Mike Schutz

For centuries, Christians have spoken of their lives as a pilgrimage, a journey. Ahead is the promise of eternal life, behind the life controlled by fear and guilt. In the present moment, faith -- experienced as forgiveness and strength from the past and hope for the future, becomes a lived reality.

College life is also a journey. The emphasis is clearly on reaching your goal, making it to your destination. The choice of major, the focus on grades, the expectation of future success, seems to indicate that college is simply the means to an end. The only question, for those whose focus is solely on the goal, is "How will this help me in getting where I want to go?" For those who cannot see a future goal, the decisions of daily life, which path to take, and which choice to make become as frustrating as wilderness wanderings.

Journeying into the city...

Since ENC is only a few blocks from Quincy Bay, and less than a 10 minute walk to the T station, many students love to take advantage of Boston. From strolling through Boston Commons to having coffee at one of many coffee shops, from shopping to visiting museums, or from attending a Celtics or Red Sox game to using another university's library, there is something for everyone in Boston.

Our world can be a beautiful place,

All we have to do is look.

The simple things are the ones
we remember most.

Take time to see those commonplace things
the way a child does.

Keep it simple and look.

~ Ron Kirkwood

14. Joy in the Journey

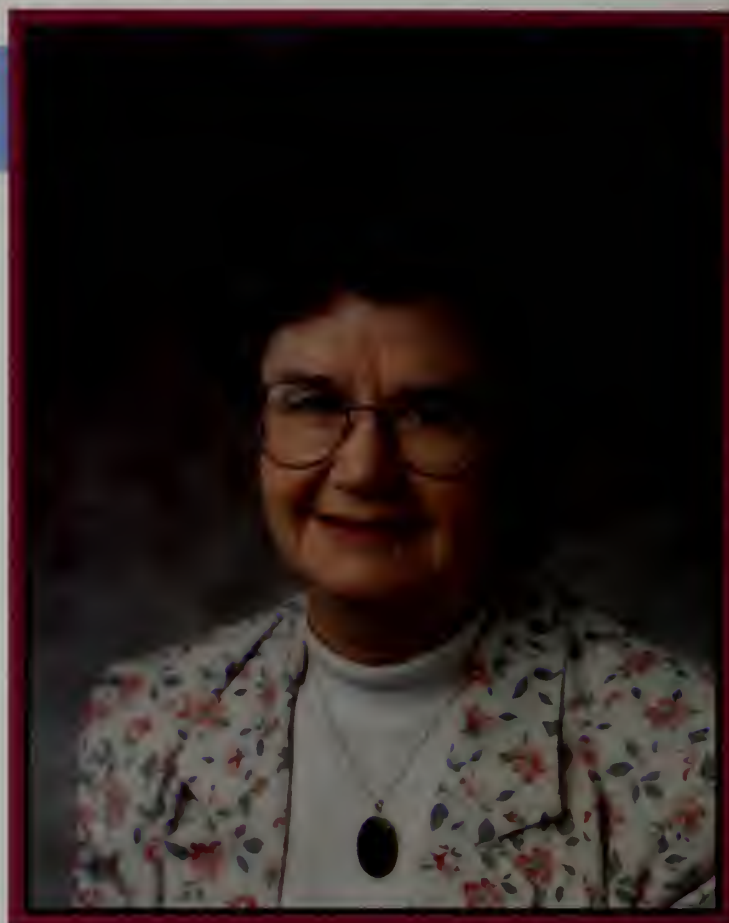

In Dedication to and in Honor of...

Dr. Ruth Cameron

As editor of the 1998 Nautilus, it is my pleasure to dedicate this yearbook to Dr. Ruth Cameron. Dr. Cameron, a member of the Class of 1950 and former Chair of the English Department, has been a Professor here at ENC for over forty years, and has affected the lives of all of her students, regardless of whether or not they are English majors! Dr. Cameron has served as an example of God's love and faithfulness to all who know her.

This dedication is one way that we, the student body, can honor her for the work she has done and the influence she has had here on this campus.

~ Erin S. Hitchcock

Over the years we have often heard ENC described as "the great ENC family," "the fellowship of faith," "the community." It took major surgery in January 1996 for me to experience personally what those phrases mean. The students, faculty, staff, administrators, along with the Wollaston Church, were at the center of a series of concentric circles of that large family, that fellowship of faith that sent heavenward a barrage of prayers on my behalf. During the several months of recovery I heard from alumni, former classmates and students, and former colleagues all over the world. Indeed, ENC has connections all over the world . . . This has been for me a humbling experience -- to realize that so many people were concerned and were praying for me. In the hospital and in all my recovery I felt that I was resting on a mighty cushion of prayer. I praise God for His hand on my life, and for the fellowship of faith that characterizes Eastern Nazarene College.

Ruth Cameron

*The lines have fallen unto me in pleasant places;
yea, I have a goodly heritage. Psalm 16:9*

∞ In early January, Dr. Ruth Cameron announced that this would be her last year teaching here at ENC. As the first holder of the Bertha Munro Endowed Chair of Literature, Dr. Cameron has always taken pride in continuing the tradition of excellence present in the English Department.

∞ At Honors Chapel May 13, Dean David Kale asked how we can recognize someone who has spent her whole life serving ENC. When he announced Dr. Cameron's retirement, students and faculty stood to give her a standing ovation and to show their appreciation. When accepting this dedication, Dr. Cameron asked why she does it, teach. Her answer? "Because I love it!" She embodies the Christian teaching prevalent at ENC. The yearbook dedication is one other way to show our love and thanks to someone who has done so much for and on this campus.

Seniors

This was my second year serving as President of the Class of 1998 and I once again had a great time! I had the privilege of learning so much more about our class and the people that are a part of it. Our class has been so blessed by having a diverse group of people who genuinely want to learn from those around them. I experienced the excitement of preparing for Graduation and the frustrations of trying to please so many kinds of people. I really want to thank all those who supported our council. It really did mean a lot to us. It is easy to question every decision you make, and when we got positive feedback it was wonderful. The senior class had two progressive dinners, a superbowl party, a harvest party, and a class barbecue. It would be impossible to thank all of the people that helped make these events possible, but I do want to say a special thanks to our advisor Libbie Bowers and to Dr. and Mrs. Hill. Perhaps the thing that will stick out in my mind the most from my senior year is Jr./Sr. Chapel. Jeff Lane, Jeff Wilson, and Nathaniel McIntyre took on the difficult task of turning a chapel known for its pranks into a service of worship. I think everyone could sense God's presence in Wolly Church. God truly is in control of every situation. I pray that the upcoming years will be years of growth and prosperity for the Class of 1998. I cannot wait to see everyone at our reunions!

God Bless,

As I gaze at the sunset or out at the ocean and its mighty waves or study the moon and stars, I remember how powerful and awesome God is. I also realize He is more than able to care for us during our trials (1 Pet. 5:7). He understands what we go through, knows our needs and feels our pain (Heb. 4:15-16). No matter how long and dark the road looks, how uncertain your future may seem, or confusing your circumstances, God is always there with His arms open wide to take you safely through. Junior-Senior Chapel was the first time the Senior class gathered together in their caps and gowns. A trio of seniors spoke on memories of both funny and serious events that happened during our college experience. The Senior class stood in the front of the Church to sing one of the two Senior class songs, "I Will Follow You." Mike Schutz spoke, and each class council gave a charge to those behind them.

Joy on the journey

Who's Who 1998

from The Servant Song
by Richard Gillard

Brother, let me be your servant,
let me be as Christ to you.
Pray that I may have the grace to let you be my servant too.

We are pilgrims on a journey;
we are brothers on the road.
We are here to help each other walk the mile and bear the load.

I will weep when you are weeping;
when you laugh, I'll laugh with you.
I will share your joy and sorrow
till we've seen this journey through.

Now that our journey here at ENC is coming to a close, 21 Seniors have been elected to this year's Who's Who. Nominating committees and editors of the Who's Who annual directory have honored these students for the 1998 school year, and they are listed along with students from over 1,800 colleges in the United States. Who's Who is not something based solely on academics, or on activities, but on much more. Students are chosen based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities, and potential for continuing success.

The Seniors chosen for ENC's 1998 school year come from a variety of academic backgrounds and represent a myriad of activities, reflecting the diversity of our class as well as the unity we have found. Despite any differences though, there is a common thread found in many of the Who's Who write-ups. It is the importance of relationships we have made during our time here at ENC. While many of us come here to get an "academic" education, it seems that often what we learn most is not academic, but through life experiences and relationships with those we come in contact with. We have each made our own journey here, and through our differences as well as our similar characteristics, have made friendships that will last long past college.

Phillip Dyke

I came here as a determined religion major with grandiose plans for my future. Now, four short years later, I am preparing to graduate with a Communication Arts degree and no clear idea of what to do next. During my time at ENC I was faced with a choice. I chose to give up control and, in return, I was given greater faith and incredible peace. I am so grateful to those I have been privileged to travel with — may our paths continue to cross. As I leave here, I may not know what lies ahead, but I am journeying with the God who has already been there. Now we see but a poor reflection as in a mirror; then we shall see face to face. Now I know in part; then I shall know fully, even as I am fully known." 1 Corinthians 13:12

Jennifer Brown

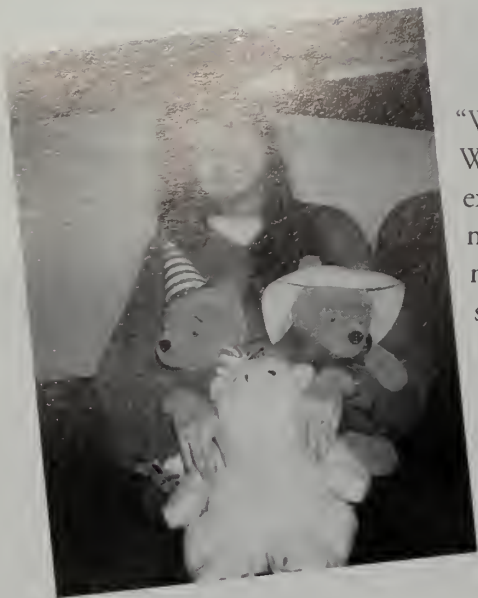

I tiptoe between worlds and long to feel real.
There is so much within me that begs to be tasted.
Thoughts, actions, and words with such a story to tell.
I fall. But it is gracefully that I open my wings.
Patience for a moment where the plan will complete.
You've seen it all yet love in a way so difficult to understand.
Passion breathes life into a lifeless soul.
You are that. You are me. Without question.

Justin Vallese

"Live and learn" is a common cliché used day by day describing the way in which many people gain an education. ENC has taught me how to enjoy living by enjoying learning. Too often education is just something we have survived and not appreciated. The education that ENC has given me has been to search for true wisdom in my life. A constant pursuit of wisdom is the key to an honest education. Whether my education was academic or spiritual, I truly learned. I would like to thank all those who made this possible. To all the professors, especially Dr. Goodman and Dr. McLaren, thank you for your patience and generosity. To all my friends, you are the greatest. To Mom, Dad, Jess, and Chrissa, I can't imagine life without your encouragement, support, and love. I love you. Most importantly, to You Lord, for giving everything purpose. Your faithfulness leaves me with nothing to fear.

Alicia Rothman Vaughn

"Wait for the Lord; be strong and take heart and wait for the Lord." Psalm 27:14
Waiting is not one of my strong points! As I think about all that I've experienced over the past four years, I can see God persistently trying to teach me to trust Him completely and patiently wait for Him to reveal His plan for my life. So many times I've formulated the "perfect" plan for my life and been surprised when God takes me the opposite direction and things turn out far better than I could ever have imagined. If life followed my script, I would be graduating with a degree in Accounting from another school and I would not have had the opportunity to share the rest of my life with my husband, Tim. I'm thankful that God continues to patiently reveal Himself to me even when I have trouble waiting on Him.

Jonathan Twitchell

In looking back on my ENC experience, I realize that more important than the classroom education I received here were the opportunities for experiences. God has used these experiences to open my eyes to what life is really about. The many opportunities for ministry have broadened my horizons, and allowed me to have many open doors for my future. Above all, what has most highlighted my ENC experience has been the Christian friends and fellowship within our community. Those times of debate, discussion, reflection, and just hanging out with friends reminds me what life is all about... people.

"...being confident of this, that He who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus." Philippians 1:6

Shannon Goss

Without a doubt the memories I will most take with me when leaving ENC are my times spent in Romania. Mother Teresa said "Jesus comes to meet us." While in Romania, I learned that God meets us in many different forms. He came to me in the smile of an orphan who has no one to love him and in the warm embrace of a street child who has never been loved at home, and thus has no reason to love others. He also came to me in the friendship of a young person who doesn't know what the future holds, and in the hospitality of adults who struggled just to survive. My prayer for you is that you will go out and meet Jesus in everyone you encounter. To not is to reject Jesus Himself. To the Romanian people, I remember you always and carry you in my heart until we meet again. Matthew 25:31-46

Kelly Lightcap

I came to college looking for an education, but I discovered the world instead... I found that the classes which proved to be the most challenging were also the most rewarding... I found that music is a gift from God, and to cultivate that gift is the privilege of a lifetime... I found that perfectionism is hazardous to my health... I found that I don't know all the answers, and that is good... I found that friendship means vulnerability. And vulnerability means freedom... I discovered I had a world of qualities which I never knew existed and I don't know how I ever lived without them... But most importantly, I found acceptance in the arms of Jesus.

David Scalera

I would never have imagined that my four years at ENC would end up the way they have. I am proud of my accomplishments, but I owe an awful lot to those who have helped me along the way. I would like especially to thank my three major professors, Al Socci, Mike Holt, and Joe Goulart. Your friendship and guidance will be remembered for a lifetime. I thank my whole family for teaching me the things necessary to succeed in life. You have been great mentors of integrity and work ethic. Heather, I thank you for being the most honest and loving person that I know. I look forward to the future God has planned for me. Don't ever underestimate the opportunities that ENC can give you. Take advantage of every single one of them!!

Erin Hitchcock

I have had the hardest time trying to do my write-up. I didn't want to just put the usual stuff, but creative writing has never been my strong point. There is too much I have learned in my four years here, and too many people I want to thank to do so in a few words. I want especially to thank my English professors, Dr. Cameron, Dr. Winderl, and Prof. Fiacco, who have been wonderful role models, both in academics and in life. Dr. Seifert's Handbell Choir has been a high point in my weeks for so long. To my friends, you mean the world to me. I will always cherish my memories of our times at ENC. To my parents, thank you for supporting me in everything, and especially through each of the decisions I have made. And to God, You have been there all along. You brought me to ENC, even when I didn't know this was where I should be. I thank you for Your continued faithfulness to me and for everything You are going to do in and with me. "And we know that in all things God works for the good of those who love Him." Romans 8:28

Miosotis Martinez

When I first stepped on ENC's campus, I didn't know what to expect. There was a whole new world before me, waiting for me to make my mark. Now that I'm graduating there is yet another new world before me. Even though I still don't know what to expect, with the help of the Lord I'm ready to face it head on. My years at ENC have taught me that to make it in life it takes three things: faith in the Lord, faith in yourself, and faith from your loved ones. Without them you won't get very far, but with them nothing can stop you. So watch out world, here we come! Y a mis padres, gracias por haberme dado esta oportunidad, te quiero.

Bob Johnston

My last four years went by way too fast, but I have lived life to the fullest! The years have brought many memories, trials, and experiences that have taught me valuable lessons. I thank God for blessing me with such a great family and friends. Dad, Mom, Mike, Nana, and the Cawthornes, I am forever grateful for your undying support and guidance. Christian, Judd, Brad, Matt, and Jess, you mean the world to me. I praise God for the many opportunities He has given me and for getting me through it all. Soccer and volleyball have blessed me with teammates and memories that will last a lifetime. Finally, remember the man that walks by the inch, yet talks by the yard, deserves to be kicked by the foot. God bless.

Joy Willey Scott

I never knew how quickly time would fly here at ENC. It seems like only yesterday I was a freshman surrounded by a new world of people and ideas. Now as a senior, that freshman seems so young and naive. At ENC I have met some wonderful people. Our class, the class of 1998, is full of terrific people. My classmates have loved me and shown God to me over and over again. Thanks Mom and Dad for loving me in a way that gives me strength when I'm tired. Thank you Jeff for being my best friend. Thank you ENC for giving me wonderful friends and experiences, and thank you God for putting all these things in my life. I pray for God's continuing guidance in my life as well as the lives of my classmates.

Susan Soares

I believe that every child is an instrument, and through them comes the music with which we all must make a better, happier world. Many teachers have found my particular melody and have shaped it, improved it, and most of all fine-tuned it without changing it. I receive this recognition thankfully and, at the same time, nearly wistfully. The seasons have come and gone; a crucial transition is over. As I embark on the journey to fulfill a dream and respond to a long-slumbered passion, I find myself embraced by a promising future with full confidence in the assurance of my academic qualification. The fun does not need to end, and I am positive the learning never will — especially considering my career as a teacher. My one fire is the very light which I hope will illuminate my students' minds to find the same tools I was once given to LOVE learning and desire it continually. My deepest prayer is that I too, given my own educators' example, can find the tune in each of my students and discover the method to take it and create a symphony.

Nat McIntyre

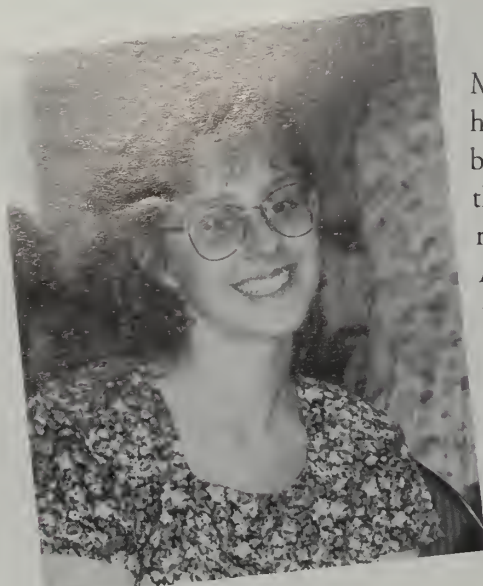

Well, I didn't plan to stay, but here I am graduating! There were many reasons I decided to stay and so much I learned -- especially how real Christ is and how He changes lives. I want to thank all of those who had a part in me discovering His love, those who He put in my path, but I don't have enough space to thank you all individually. I will just say thanks to you adult-like people who believed in me. To Eunice for believing in me as an actor and bringing so much out of me. To my coaches for a chance to play ball one more time. To the guys on the team, we weren't that good all the time but we were playing baseball -- "I'm a sweatin' mess ova here!" To the Cove crew, remember there is life after Edith. Thanks to all my old friends who are gone, but who I will never forget. TK, JS, JT, RG, DC, and IW, all I can say is thank you too. To my family, I love you, your support is what keeps me going so much of the time. Mom and Dad, you didn't do so bad after all. To my sisters, just remember how much I love you and worry about you, you deserve the best. And, of course, most thanks to God.

Amy Minzner

Life is a vast ocean, upon which I find myself traveling. I can never hope to comprehend its depths or control its tides; I can only desire to be enraptured by its beauty and respectful of its strength. During my time at ENC, I have learned immeasurable truths about myself and about the world around me. I want to thank my professors for challenging me to go beyond my limitations into the realm of possibilities. May the questions I have asked and the answers you have given sustain me as I journey on. Erik, thank you for giving me my dreams; I now give you yours!

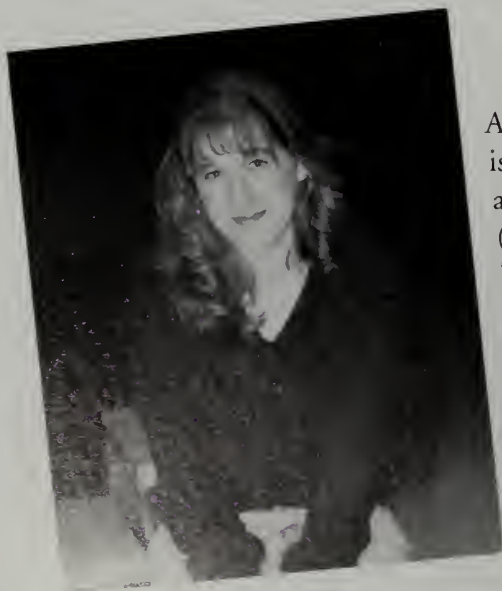

April Wanner

My experiences at ENC, and the relationships I have been blessed with, have taught me much about "growing up." Though at times the road has been wearisome, the constant encouragement of my friends has taught me that "growing up" is a life-long process, and this revelation has been refreshing. I am grateful for God's presence in the lives of Melissa Mann, Anne Hardy, and Lois Howard who have comforted and challenged me when I needed it most. I thank Carl and Ronda Winderl for helping to make my dream of visiting England a memory. I cherish my memories! I greatly appreciate Peg Bowen and her steady faith in my academic ability and goals. My gratitude towards my family is unmeasurable. I thank my Mother for all that she has sacrificed. She is truly a treasure. Most importantly, I thank Jesus for His gentle reminders that He not only loves me, but He adores and likes me! Praise You Jesus!

Jeff Scott

I remember coming to ENC as a young child. I remember how grown up all of the students looked. Most of my family attended this school at some point and I even have a grandfather and great-grandfather who were presidents at ENC, so there was really no doubt where I would attend college. What I never could have known about ENC was the opportunities the school would provide me with. My classes, friends, and experiences in student government helped make college a great experience for me. Thanks to all who made the possible for me. I need to especially thank my wife Joy. Without her I would not be where I am today.

Rhonda Lajoie

A wise man has best summed up what I've learned in my college years. "There is one thing I've learned. Too much moisture is worse than none at all. Prune a plant. Avoid water and go easy on manure. Moderation. That's the moral." (Huck, The Fantasticks!)

There are a few other things this experience has taught me:

Pray... all the time • Trust God. Expect blessings • Hold on to your friends (If you jump, I jump) • Let others hold on to you • Use your crutches • Hold on tight to ladders • Dying your hair blonde after dying it brown is a bad idea • Jesus loves me • Satan doesn't • Love until it hurts... hurt until you love • Forgive and forget • You can't have your cake and Edith too • I will survive • I am a child of God

"I shall be very happy to make my weaknesses my special boast that the power of Christ may stay over me." 2 Corinthians 12:19

Jeffrey Lane

Who's Who ponderings. . . We spend so much time delineating ourselves from one another. Through accomplishments, tasks, titles, etc. we create barriers between the communion of persons that we are in need of being. At ENC I have enjoyed learning further who I am in light of who others are. If I hold any regrets of things left undone it is that I have not spent enough time getting to know others for who they really are. But the beauty of tomorrow is that it holds opportunity to use what I have learned in regret. I have enjoyed the souls I have seen on display and seek to be made more courageous to bare mine more fully. May God teach us the vulnerability of loving, that we might be a people of love. His grace is sufficient.

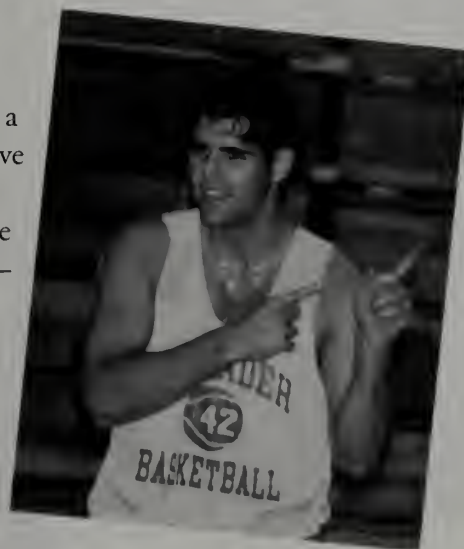

Karen Baho

My experience at ENC has been one of refinement. The Lord has taught me many lessons during the past four years about what it means to trust, surrender, serve, and persevere. I would like to thank my family for their unending support and many sacrifices, and my friends for their comfort, laughter, and prayers. I thank God for those who have modeled His love and encouragement and challenged me throughout my academic and spiritual development: Dr. Ruth Cameron, Dr. Carl Winderl, and Professor Fiacco for planting in me a love for learning and appreciation for literature; Dr. & Mrs. Knox for giving me confidence and encouragement; and Melissa & Mark Mann for being wonderful spiritual mentors and role-models. Most of all, I thank God for being my Sustainer and gracious and merciful Provider as He continues to refine me according to His purpose. "This third I will bring into the fire. I will refine them like silver and test them like gold. They will call on my name and I will answer them; I will say, 'these are my people,' and they will say, 'The Lord is our God.'" Zechariah 13:9

Matt Lantier

Two weeks into my freshman year, I said to myself, "I hope this never ends." Now it's time to say good-bye to the best four years of my life. I would like to thank: Mark Fleming for being a Christ-like example of how to be a Coach and a Father; my professors who influenced my abilities to think critically; the executive SGA council of the 97-98 school year, who taught me the true meaning of compassion and embracing love; my friends Jeff, Mark, Jay, and Dave, who have shown unconditional love and have taught me more than they will ever know — I love you guys!! To my family, I thank you for your continued support in my life — I love you too!! Finally, to the little redhead from Plymouth, I thank you for sticking by my side and setting me straight through the struggles. I commit my love to you Kara; thank you for sharing this experience with me. And God, I praise you for sending me to this place in Quincy and for blessing me with such an experience that will be remembered forever; it was all done for Your glory. Thank you ENC!!

Baccalaureate

Sunday, May 24, 1998

The Senior class filed into Wollaston Church in their order for Commencement. This was a dress rehearsal in many ways for the ceremony that would take place the next day. President Hill's Baccalaureate address was about "Meaning What We Pray," which he opened with the story of the "Prodigal Sign." As the Senior prank, the ENC sign disappeared to take an excursion into Boston. President Hill then informed the pranksters that there might be some "Prodigal Diplomas" at Commencement! The A Cappella Choir sang "Justorum Animae" and "Anthem of Dedication," the Morgans Sisters sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Nat McIntyre & Rhonda Lajoie gave a dramatic reading of "The Lord's Prayer" in a contemporary setting.

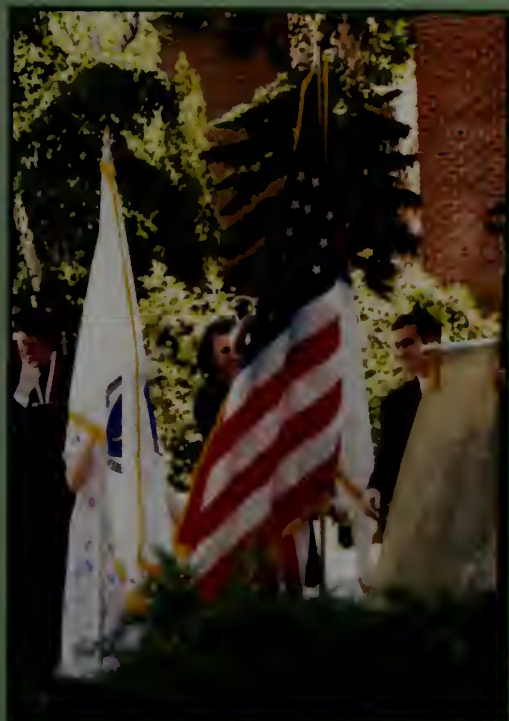

Commencement

Monday, May 25, 1998

Commencement took place on a beautiful morning. The graduates were arrayed in black caps and gowns, and faculty members wore their academic regalia. It was the last time the Class of 1998 would be together as an entire class, which explained why there were tears mixed with the smiles, and hugs between friends who don't want to ever say goodbye.

Director, Institute on Race and Social Division, Boston University, delivers the Commencement Address

A university education is a wonderful thing. But, it cannot answer every question. Specifically, for what purpose have you become educated? Science has no answer to that question. There are too many educated fools in the world today -- people who have not answered or even asked the right questions. I urge you graduates, do not add yourselves to this number.

You graduates are now grown-ups. If we have no better answer to the questions, "What's it for? What's it all about? Why am I doing it, why am I here, what am I trying to achieve?" than that "I want to get ahead of the next guy, I want to be number one" -- if that is the only answer we've got, well, I really don't think that is good enough. There also needs to be a spiritual component, a spiritual focus, at the center of one's life.

When there is a breakdown in the moral fabric, it is necessary to ask who has the authority to reconstruct it. In my view, there is something about human relationship that is essential to the establishment of this authority. Consequently, the building of authoritative and respectful relationships, becomes a basic requirement if we are to be serious about forestalling the corrosive effects of modernity. The fundamental thing that needs to be established is that we are all in this together.

excerpted from the Commencement Address

One of the highlights of each year's Commencement ceremony is the A Cappella Choir. The Choir rehearses all year, under the direction of Professor Shetler, and Commencement is one time when everyone has the opportunity to listen to them perform. Though the sun and heat was apparent by the sunglasses and umbrellas that many Choir members sported, the sounds of "Elijah Rock" and "Coelos Ascendit Hodie" proved that the hot weather did not affect the quality of their music! As always, the Choir performed "My Times are in Thy Hands," a favorite of many, and one that fits the feelings and convictions of the graduating class.

CLASS COUNCIL

Time waits for no one. The reality of this statement was something that the class of 2001 had to learn in order to function. Through the course of the year there were many activities, prayer nights, chapels, and other class-oriented functions. All of these are important, but in no way do these functions represent who the people of the class of 2001 really are. The potential and passion represented in this particular class should in no way be overlooked. Too many times the driving force behind newly added classes is diminished because of those around them. It is my prayer that throughout the coming years, the class of 2001 would not lose sight of the passion which is responsible for its uniqueness, but that we would nurture and seek to live out the potential of that passion in everything we do.

"Do not let anyone look down on you because you are young, but set an example for the believers in speech, in life, in love, in faith, and in purity."

Sophomore Year. So what have we learned?

1. We aren't as smart as we thought we were.
 2. Time flies when you're asleep.
 3. No curfew is a good thing.
 4. Turkey gobbles, Pilgrim hats, Indian feathers, stale bread, and water DO look good on Freshmen.
 5. Star Search works much better the second time around.
 6. Pajamas, Santa Claus, and parties definitely make a good time.
 7. Candy-grams look good on paper for a sell-day, but not on sale.
 8. Singing telegrams, on the other hand, work wonders when matters of the heart are concerned. (Right, Tito?)
 9. You can "do" hot cocoa and donuts at class chapel.
 10. Even when we feel the most lost, scared, and alone, God is very in control.
- He is so faithful.

The Sophomore class is simply a great mix of great people. Our class has found a strong sense of unity that will carry us on these next two years. We never want to forget to thank God for bringing this wonderful class to us for our growth, support, and love. Thanks, class, for all you give each other...and myself.

God bless each and every one of you,

As our third year of college draws to a close, I have begun to reflect on the changes that have taken place on campus. Some of our fellow classmates have left, some new ones have arrived, some moved off campus and some have moved on. In each of our personal lives, change is a constant. There is also another thing that has been a constant in my life at ENC and that is a community of support. We have a special gift at this school that I have only just come to fully understand and appreciate. We have a network of people who genuinely care about what we are doing and where we are going with our lives.

This community of support has become so evident to me, and the council this year, as we struggled through the banquets, pizzas, and doorhangers to raise money. The part that made it worthwhile was the people who came in a time of need and willingly gave of their time and energy without a thought of tangible rewards. Not only did they each show up for some less-than-fun events, but you did it with a cheery attitude and a smile. That means more than anything.

One last thank you goes to the Junior Class Council. This year's success was definitely bigger than any one person. It has been my pleasure to work with each one of you and I could not have asked for a more dedicated, committed council. You deserve all of the credit in the world. Please, relax and enjoy your final year of college - you deserve it!

"Being confident of this, that He who began a good work in you will carry it on until the day of Christ Jesus."

The Harbor Cruise -- Sailing Away

Who could resist stuffing themselves with the fine food? Or singing with the Karoke (when it worked)? Or swaying with the table candles held high in the air? Or gagging when Nat McIntyre drank that "Suicide" drink the fastest? Or shedding a tear when Doug Chapman sang a love song? Aboard the "Spirit of Boston," ENC students ate, laughed, sang and danced. The evening was full of cherished memories. Joe Delgado, David Scott and Luke Sheets gave one of their best performances. Jason Blake amazed us with his talented voice. Numerous people made us laugh and cry with their karaoke acts. But no one will forget the moment when everyone danced together during the last song of the evening.

Left: Jason Dover cringes as the shock of the cold water hits his system.

Below: Matt Bromley only grins as Security drenches him!

Wrong! Soak him!

Wet T-Shirt Contest

If you sat in the front row, you would have gotten wet. But not as wet as the contestants in the First Annual Wet T-Shirt Contest. Their unsatisfactory answers got these men soaked! From the looks on the contestants' faces, the water was pretty chilly. But from the screams of the audience, these guys were nothing but hot!

When asked about the event, Freshman Geoff Lalone replied, "I didn't know my roommate (Charlie Luong) was so stacked!" But the judges must have thought so, because Charlie was the Freshman Class Winner! Jeremy Patnode secured his win for the Sophomore Class with just a smile. Dan Wyborne's toss of his black bra gave him the win for the Junior Class. But it was his pose that made Senior Mike Brenton winner overall!

Oliver!

October 16 - 18 & 23 - 25

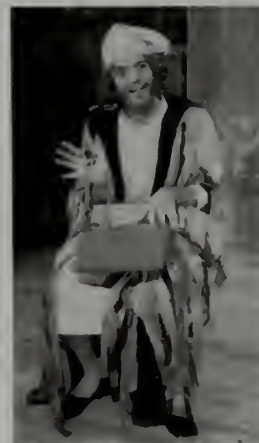

Oliver!, based on Charles Dickens' classic novel, is the story of a young boy who's life is at the mercy of England's social system. When he permits the unpardonable sin of asking for more food at the orphanage, Oliver unknowingly sets himself up for the adventure of a lifetime. He is sold as an apprentice, runs away, joins a band of pickpockets, and eventually discovers what it is like to be loved and wanted. The story of Oliver shows how in the end, Love and Good will triumph over all.

The loveable villian Fagin, played by Gil Thibault, drools over his "little treasures."

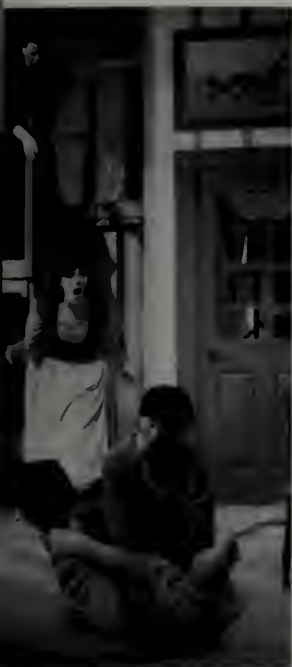

Oliver, played by Lorien Alder, asks "Where is love?"

After the Artful Dodger introduces Oliver to Fagin's crew, the boys show Oliver how to "Pick a Pocket or Two."

Nancy and Dodger teach Oliver how to be a gentlem

"Don't talk about my mother!" (Mrs. Sowerberry, Charlotte, Oliver, & Noah Claypole)

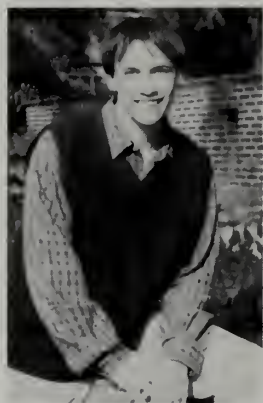

Widow Corney tells Mr. Bumble that "I Shall Scream!" when he attempts to propose.

Bill Sykes is suspicious of what Oliver has told about Fagin and Bill.

Nancy entertains the crowd at the "Three Dogs" with "Oom-pah-pah."

Homecoming King Jeff Lane

When I was elected to the court,

I debated rejecting my nomination. I often say that I don't like "this kind of thing," because it brings honor to us. It is often food for our egos. Yet being elected Homecoming

King was a very humbling experience. It allowed me to realize something very important. This was less an honor but a privilege. It was not so much in admiration of me, but an affirmation of Christ at work in me. I remember coming to Homecoming in years past, seeing people I admire being crowned king, men like Eric Hughes, José Delgado and Steve Boel. Men who I admire for their realness in seeking Christ's likeness. So I say go ahead, call me "the man" for an evening, give me the robe, crown me with sparkling plastic, remembering that we do not celebrate ourselves, but He who has made, He who seeks to take our frailness and transform us into His perfection. So continue to affirm the Christ within each of us, and in doing so we will glorify God's divine purpose at work. Finally, I dedicate this crown and robe to my brother Patrick, who was in attendance that night. More than anyone in the world, I care that he sees Christ in me.

*Homecoming Queen
Rhonda Lajoie*

Homecoming Queen Rhonda Lajoie

Overwhelmed...flustered...delighted...honored. These feelings rushed through me as I strutted down the aisle in my lime green polyester dress. I had won the honor of being named: The queen of Mrs. Cavineau's second grade class. Each of the girls in the class had voted for the girl, and the boys for the boy. The criteria: Someone who is nice; someone who likes to smile; someone who does unto others as she would have done unto her; someone who obeys the teacher. The festivities were all I'd ever dreamed: a white crepe paper sash with red marker, "Queen of 2C;" a crown of aluminum foil, a crocheted granny shawl serving as the robe, and the teacher's chair as the royal throne.

Homecoming 1997 was a blast. I was greatly honored to walk down the same aisle as my fellow princesses, to receive the crown worn by queens of the past, and to sit beside His Royal Highness, Jeff. But what did it all mean? A free ticket to the musical. A beautiful satin sash. An elegant rhinestone tiara. Very little when the weekend was over, it seemed. But it seems the Lord had more in mind. I remain completely baffled about why I've been elected to hold this honor, and am challenged to find reason in all of this. If a queen is still a queen because she is nice, she likes to smile, she does unto others as she would have done unto her, and, most importantly, she is not ashamed to be known as someone who obeys the Teacher; I am honored and humbled to be given this title. I pray the Lord continues to mold me into this type of queen for His kingdom. May we all find our identities as students who obey the Teacher.

Joy in the Journey • 99

Homecoming 1997

Coming home brings to mind old-fashioned cooking, friends & family, memories of days gone by, laughter and tears of joy. And Homecoming 1997 was all that and more. As a result of Spirit Week, the campus became overrun by nerds, sleepwalkers, twins, and 80's lovers. Friday night the gym was transformed into a park. On Saturday, Wollaston Street was full of food and people. Not only was there a cross country meet to watch, but there was the men's soccer team to cheer on!

Homecoming was full of activities for everyone! But after it turned midnight and everything went back to normal, we reflected on the real spirit of Homecoming. We realized it's not about popularity. It's not just about who's going to be the next King and Queen. It's not about winning the soccer game. It's not about stuffing yourself with Rick's catering. Homecoming is about cheering on your friends. It's about reminiscing about previous college years. It's about making more moments to remember. It's about being with your friends, your ENC family.

Mr. ENC

If there is one Social Life event that you don't want to miss, it's the Mr. ENC contest. There's just something about seeing guys from each class compete for the coveted crown.

In the swimsuit competition, the contestants amazed us with their year-round tans. From poetry reading to apple-eating to singing, the audience saw a side of the contestants we'd never seen before in the talent competition. And as always, the guys showed us that they always look their best in their evening wear.

But by the end of the evening, there was no doubt who the winner should be... and was. Phil Dyke was by far the favorite of the evening. His sandcastle was unique. His biker evening wear complimented the package. But no one will forget Phil's dramatic interpretation of Celine Dion's song, "It's All Coming Back To Me Now."

Right: It's the real "Men in Tights,"

"Get Thee to a Nunnery!"

"The lack of knowledge about the wonderful works of William Shakespeare is a tragic statement about the nature of society today. At least this is the belief held by the performers of The Complete Works of William Shakespeare-Abridged." (Jen Roes, excerpted from Campus Camera) The cast of three (Samuel Young, Nathaniel McIntyre and Phillip Dyke) performed Romeo and Juliet, Othello, Macbeth, Anthony and Cleopatra, Hamlet, and various other plays. It wasn't necessarily WHAT was performed as HOW it was performed. Macbeth was done in a rap style. Hamlet was performed backwards. Now that takes talent!

"Using minimal props and highly amusing costumes (Shakespearean attire coupled with high tops?), the trio successfully delivered an hour and a half of hilarious, side-splitting humor. Whether or not they achieved their goal to "educate" the audience about Shakespeare remains to be seen. Regardless of the educational quality of the show, it was certainly entertaining and well worth the time and money spent." (Jen Roes, excerpted from Campus Camera)

Resident Assistants

Being An RA

What's is like to be an RA?
It's fun, yet challenging, we must say.
We all got to bond during training week,
Help and guidance we did seek.
Sketchy accounts of night swimming and wings
The boys did all sorts of secret things.

When the students arrived, it wasn't so fun,
We suddenly realized there was work to be done!
There were cold showers and spiders and fire alarms,
Life in the dorms really has its charms.
Cats and rats and gnats, oh my!
You never know what pet could slither by.
We're sometimes a friend and sometimes a cop,
There's always some kind of mischief
we're required to stop.

As we end this memorable year,
We'd like to thank a gal we hold dear.
Nine long years she's held the job,
And dealt very well with the angry mob.
Thank you Jan, for all that you've done,
We've learned a lot, and even had fun!

Summer Ministries

All summer long. . .

It's life at a church, at a camp, in a van (in a van, in a van, in a van); it's traveling & eating & sleeping with the same people 24-7 (your team); it's buying new clothes with someone else's money (thanks Mike!); it's wearing the same 5 casual outfits and 2 dress outfits for 8 weeks straight (you do get to dry clean

-- phew!); it's making McDonald's, Burger King, Subway, Wendy's, and Pizza Hut the top 5 restaurants you frequent; it's getting lost and perusing a few maps to get back on track so you can get to the church on time; it's adopting the team rep as family for a week or two; it's autographing postcards for campers who think you're the coolest (just because you go to ENC); it's playing laser tag, going roller skating, bowling, & swimming -- at all hours of the day; it's meeting new people and sharing God's love; it's seeing new places from Maine to Virginia;
it's getting mail from Dad and Mom and all your faithful friends (even though it's 3 weeks late); it's singing & acting & speaking & praying; it's putting on a happy face in the morning even when you're completely exhausted; it's sacrificing and putting others before yourself; and it's a semester of training & preparation (and you're still not quite prepared) so that finally you learn "It's not about me!" -- Shauna Goss

The Mysteries

Right: Abraham (Nathan Scott) and Isaac (Lincoln Flores) show the closeness between a father and his son.

Left: A thief (Gil Thibault) is pursued by shepherds Heidi Swank, Matt Martsolf, & Adam MacDougall after stealing Adam's pet sheep.

With over 30 cast members, "The Mysteries" took the Bible stories from Creation through the birth of Jesus and showed how they are both "universal and contemporary." God was a construction foreman, and Herod looked a lot like Elvis. The play showed the Biblical roles played by everyday laborers, common people, which symbolized the relevance of the stories to today's world. Musical accompaniment was provided by Donny Woodbridge and the Hepburn brothers.

Happily ever after? The end of Act One.

Up: Bell & Huck (Brady Ellingwood & Gil Gault) discuss their plan with El Gallo.
 ve: The assistant actors (Adam MacDougall & David Scott) show Matt the ways of the world.

"A comical musical fantasy about the seasons of love and life." "The Fantasticks" had romance, devious plans, family relationships, an abduction, and a quest for truth. Matt and Luisa fall in love, despite their fathers' apparant objections and the wall that separates their yards. To cement their love for each other, and bring about a marriage, the fathers hire a group of actors to abduct Luisa so that Matt will rescue her. The plan goes as scheduled, and the lovers marry. Unfortunately, the constant closeness and truth about their fathers' plan forces the two to question their love, separate, grow, and come back together as a mature couple.

As Time Goes By...

...we reflect on past points of our journey.

It's amazing how many memories we make in four short years. The Junior Senior Banquet is a time to reflect on our past. It's a time to honor our Seniors. And it's a time to make even more treasured memories.

Life is journey. No one travels alone. This night, we remembered all of those special people who have been an important part of our lives. We recognized those who have gone on before us, and those who will follow in our footsteps. And we gave tribute to those who will remain in our lives forever.

God has given us many blessings and we pray that He will bestow many more upon our lives. Although our time here together is short, we have created many past moments that will remain in our hearts, as time goes by.

Left: Jenn Brown pauses to reflect on the many memories captured on this special night.

AWS

AWS has been very busy this year. We underwent changes in the beginning of the year as half of our council changed. Serena and Jessica did a great job stepping up and helping out. We started the year out with a blast from the past. This year's Big Sister-Little Sister party had a 50s theme. Our goal this year was to build unity and communication between the women on campus; staff, students, and faculty. We attempted this through an Out Shopping Day. By far, the most successful event this year was the Date Auction. The event raised money which was donated to the Alumni who are planning to renovate the prayer room on fourth Munro. Although things didn't always go as planned, AWS achieved its goal and continues to serve the women on campus. - Tandi Lehman

AVAILABLE

The International Student Organization serves as a support group for international students in the ENC community. It is also an active medium for promoting an understanding of cultures represented through various activities. The organization is open to anyone interested in learning about different cultures in a more conducive setting allowing for friendly interaction. The focus of the past year has been on sharing experiences and food to celebrate the splendor of diversity. ISO has grown considerably in the past year and we hope to become more involved in the ENC community over the next year.

This year, Baby Huggers consisted of seven volunteers that went into the Franciscan Children's Hospital and ministered to people from infancy to adult age. Each volunteer went into the hospital, and spent time with the children of their choice and had wonderful experiences. This year was a success. Thank you to all who gave time in their busy schedules to minister to a child.

Kids' Club is a ministry through Bethel Church of the Nazarene. It is for children in elementary school, most of whom are from low income housing. We have game time which includes games like 'Pies,' 'The Water Game,' and the ever-favorite 'Jump the Sticks.' We also have craft time and a short Bible story. But the most important thing that the ENC students do is showing the kids what Jesus is all about. It is not always what we say or do but sometimes just how we react to problems and how we love the kids that shows what it means to have Christ living in us. These kids have so much potential, and we do our best to bring it out. We must continue the good work, for Jesus said "... Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these" (Mark 10:14).

- Bryan Murphy

Children's Ministry

Children's Ministry is a group that travels to different churches to spread the message of God's love to children. We do puppet skits, crafts, games, and other activities with the children. This year we were able to get some new members that have added a lot to the team. We were also able to travel to quite a few churches and build up the team for next year.

Best Buddies

Best Buddies consists of a group of students who become a friend to an individual who may not otherwise have any socialization besides that of family and/or paid staff. Students are matched with individuals who have mental retardation and they help to provide them with the chance to interact in our community. We have had several all group, group activities such as bowling/ pizza party, a Christmas party and a picnic. Students have also spend time with their buddy by going to plays, basketball games and school sponsored events. This has been a very exciting first year for Best Buddies and we are looking forward to what God has in store for us next year. - Stephanie Sipe

Open Hand Open Heart is a ministry that goes into Boston on weekends with food, clothing, and the message of God's love to give to homeless people. The ministry has grown tremendously this year, as we continue to impact some of those less fortunate than ourselves. In turn, we also are greatly impacted through our opportunity to serve others. In the words of Paul, "Serve one another in love." (Galatians 5:7) May God continue to bless this ministry!

- Melody Twitchell

Nursing Home

While the world may look upon our year of ministry at the Nursing Home and see little change on our part, I don't feel that way. This year we learned to really listen to people with understanding. We opened ourselves up and created friendships with people we knew would not always be there. We learned that when you look past the surface at the residents, they were people who had so much love to give if someone was there to accept it. We were there to minister to them and instead we were ministered to.

Goofing around at a Renaissance Madrigal Feast

This year was an exciting one for A Cappella and Madrigals. For starters, this was its 60th Anniversary! In honor of the occasion, choir members shed their old uniforms and donned sharp new black and white dresses for the ladies and slick maroon pasley vests and ties to dress up the tuxes. Looking sharper than ever, the choir completed their usual scheduled events in the fall and prepared to record a CD of spirituals. In January the choir was asked to sing at Congress 98 in Boston, where, with President Hill, they represented the college and proclaimed the Word of God to over 8000 people. The spring was full of recording sessions for the choir's latest CD, "Free At Last," and there were bustling preparations for the 60th Diamond Jubilee celebration that took place during Alumni Weekend. The highlight of the weekend was a full concert at NEC'S Jordan Hall complete with a string ensemble composed of New England Conservatory graduate students. Following the concert was a beautiful reception with air brushed cakes of the 1938 choir and of the present choir. It was a fabulous year. And, as always, the choir fulfilled its purpose, "to point others toward Christ through music." - Amanda LaGraff

Immanuel Singers is a small ensemble whose desire is to serve our Lord! We take pleasure in the fact that we are using the talents God has given us to spread His word to others. This year has been a great one! God used us in numerous ways and as we were blessing others, God was blessing us! We look forward to next year hoping and praying that God will continue to work through us and in us.

Gospel Choir

What is now the ENC Gospel Choir was a vision inspired by MESA about 3 years ago. In September 1996, the Morgan Sisters became the Gospel Choir. In the fall of 1997, God led Michael Payne to take up the mantle in directing the group. The ministry of the choir is seen through the various styles of gospel music that range from contemporary worship songs to upbeat urban gospel to Caribbean influenced rhythms. The choir has made an impact on many lives due to its family atmosphere as well as more importantly, their desire to worship and spread the Gospel. From many different backgrounds, this energetic bunch proves that true unity can only be found in Christ. This year the choir has had the opportunity to minister at various churches and functions, both here at ENC as well as throughout the Eastern Coast region.

Handbell Choir

The Handbell Choir meets once a week to practice, and to have fun. Handbells was a little short-staffed this year, but Dr. Seifert was always willing to play a bell or two, or ten! The Handbell Choir performs a few times each year, mainly at Fenno House, which is a retirement home. The people love the sound of the bells, and we have a great time playing them!

SOCCER

The ENC men's soccer team completed another winning season in 1997 with a 9-8-1 record. Under the direction of second year coach Dave Cawthorne and assistant Jason Barry, the Crusaders entered the 1997 season with eleven seniors and great expectations. Senior Captain Jason Poole was the leading scorer, while senior Mike Brenton led the team in assists. In the goal for the Crusaders was first year keeper Scott Madden. Defensively, senior captain Jon Bromley was strong in leadership, along with senior sweeper Paul Oliver and junior Todd Becker. Offensively, Jason Poole, Martin Peretzman and senior Mike Taylor led the attack, while Jeremy Patnode, Jason Dover, and Chris Poole balanced the offense in the midfield. Along with the hard work of their teammates, the freshmen added youth to the play.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's men's cross country team continued to be led by Ed Gardner. Gardner won his fourth consecutive Homecoming meet and finished second in the CCC championship. Mike Paul set numerous personal bests and finished third in one of the meets, while Hamilton Paul continued his steady work and finished the year very strong. Adam Newcomer ran in pain all year but continued to improve. Genna Dikalov, a senior first year runner, helped the men's team stay competitive all season.

The women's team was once again led by junior Melissa Ladd, who continued to be one of the top five women's runners in the conference. Senior Joyce Sampson ran her best times ever and Jennifer Witherow persevered and will be expected to fill the void created by Sampson. Raquel Page, a freshman first year runner, made the transition from track to cross country. First year senior Jennifer McGlynn was a great addition to the team.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

The 1997-98 women's tennis team finished with a 5-9 record. They placed fourth in the conference playoffs where they faced tough competition in the Commonwealth Coast Conference. The lineup was pretty consistent throughout the year, with Lisa Hughes leading the way at the number one position. She was followed by Betsy Milne at two and Supatra Sukduang at the third position. The lineup was rounded up by Robin Hogan, Karen Brooks and Kim Civiello. Civiello had an outstanding year, with a singles record of 6-3. Sukduang was 5-5 for her singles. The 1998-99 season looks to be an exciting one, with the women's team returning everyone, including Jamie Roy and Altaira Nicklas. The Crusaders look to take on the CCC's and come out on top.

VOLLEYBALL

The Crusaders continued their winning ways finishing the season 20-13. Senior Kelly Allen had a strong season, being named to the NEWVA Senior Classic Team and the CCC Tourney MVP. Senior Jenn Brown had a good season as a strong side hitter with a number of timely kills. Tri-captain Amy Detwiler was one of the team's best passers, and Tandi Lehman was also a consistent player. Becky Sowden continued her strong play as one of the team's hardest hitters and led the team in assists. Kelly Talbot and Heidi Pasinetti were extremely strong contributors. Becky Galbraith and Andrea Long shared constant backrow defensive responsibilities. Lorie Oliver became the team's second setter and finished the season second in assists. Ana Rodriguez contributed from the setter's position as well. Lisa Parker played strong side and steadily improved in all skill areas. Becky Sowden and Heidi Pasinetti were both named to the CCC All Tourney Team.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Under the direction of the new Head Coach, Dan Kiser, the Crusaders learned a new system of play. It was evident that without the Hepburn brothers the team would need new leadership. Seniors Scott Madden, Matt Lantier, and Luke Sheets picked up the charge. To be sure, a team does not lose nine players and a head coach without feeling the bumps the following year. However, after getting to the second round of the Conference Playoffs, it was the players themselves who admitted they became much closer as a team as the year went on. Steve Miller was a workhouse in the point guard position and will be expected to take on the senior leadership role for next year's team. Players to watch for in the future include Mike Morrissey, Brian Deschaine, Nate Trimble, Matt Bromley, Ben George, Trevor Deshaw, Geoff King and Matt Taylor.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The beginning of the year was truly a time of learning and challenges. After a slow start, the Lady Crusaders began picking up steam and after losing their first five they won ten in a row. The Crusaders were able to fight their way from a fourth place preseason pick in the South Division and win the South, which was a first for the women's program. This year's roster was made up of four juniors, three sophomores and four freshmen. Jen Roes, a junior transfer, added size to our line-up, but was sidelined for the season due to a knee injury. Kelli Leete returned to the team after being sidelined with a broken thumb at the beginning of the season. Young Cobb, Kelli Leete and Kelly Talbot provided the inside game and majority of rebounds. Melissa Christmas, Wendy Young and Jody Gardner rounded out the starting line-up for the guard positions. Toni Kabilian, Pollyanna Jensen, Loreen Dearborn, and Stacey Braley gave bench relief and were also a big part of our success due to the day to day practice effort given. The team enjoyed a successful season with Kelli Leete receiving First Team All-Conference and Jody Gardner selected for Second Team All Conference and Rookie of the Week six times.

CHEERLEADING

This was a season of rebuilding for the Cheerleading squad. A new coach, four new team members, late night practices, an all female squad . . . these are just a few of the obstacles that had to be overcome. Having gotten a late start with beginning practices, the help and dedication of the only two returning team members became a saving grace.

The team's enthusiasm and willingness to learn helped make this season a huge success. Female athletes who never dreamed of being a "base" in a stunt seemed to find the strength and stability to make it work. Lack of fan support wouldn't even damper this team's spirit.

Overall, the season was a memorable experience for the entire team. Each takes with them fond memories and special friendships.

BASEBALL

On April 18, the Crusaders stood at 2-5 in the conference and a dismal 3-20 overall, but they bounced back, winning 4 of their last 6 games to finish in a 3-way tie for 6th place in the conference. Mike Santoro was named CCC player of the Week after picking up the win in the final two conference games with 17 innings pitched. Santoro won his third straight while ENC went on to defeat New England 14-10 in the first round of the CCC tournament.

The accomplishments of the last third of the season was attributed to the effort of each of the six seniors. Steve Balboni led in ERA and strikeouts per game. Pete Nelson played a solid shortstop and picked up many RBIs. Nat McIntyre hit well in conference play with an solid base average. Mark Scott stood out with his hitting and pitching, picking up two wins, including a nine inning complete game at New England College. Mike Santoro pitched 4-1 in the CCC, and was named to second team All Conference as a pitcher. Senior Captain Scott Madden led the team with a .388 RBA, 40 hits, 19 RBI, and 11 doubles. He was a first team All-CCC selection as catcher.

SOFTBALL

The Lady Crusaders improved their regular season record to 6-8. Pitching duties were handled by Alison Jackson and Stacy Braley, with Melissa Christmas handling most of the catching duties. Linnea Anderson played first and led the team in overall batting average. Toni Kabilian played second, and was second on the team in batting average. Jody Gardner played shortstop, was catcher for a couple of games and led the team in assists and stolen bases. Third base was played by Naomi Jacobs, who used her strong arm to throw out many runners. Outfield duties were handled by Dorothy Orechwa, Mary Elizabeth Hain, Eryn Leonard, and Stacy Braley. Hain led the team in conference batting average and RBIs. Becky Galbraith saw time at second as well as designated player and was second on the team in conference batting average. After an early season injury, Corrin Conforte rejoined the team and shared time as the designated player. Next year's outlook is bright as everyone looks to come back and improve upon this year's season.

MEN'S TENNIS

The 1998 men's tennis team had a very successful season in which the team had a strong finish. The team was 5-6 overall, but ended the season third in the conference. Jeff Butterworth, Jeremy Trowsdale, and doubles Rob McEwan and Dan Eynon finished in the finals of their matches. Butterworth and Trowsdale were the number one and two singles for the year. Returning senior Joe Eynon held the three position, followed by Jeff Ayres, Dan Eynon, and Rob McEwan. Senior Derek Culbertson and sophomore Mike Waters played solid doubles for the team. The team displayed a lot of fight this season, and should be extremely proud of the way they played in all the matches. The sign of a true champion is to persevere and end the season by making it to the finals. Next spring looks to be an exciting season.

At Nazarene Publishing House, Our commitment to you starts with our commitment to God.

Our commitment to God

Nazarene Publishing House is more than just a publishing company—it is a place of ministry for more than 260 employees committed to serving God. Our goal is to provide you and the church with the most effective Christ-centered resources possible.

Our commitment to you

Making your next purchase with NPH a positive experience is our top priority. From the time you call our toll-free fax or teleservice line, to the time your product is packaged and shipped, you can count on our commitment to provide you a superior product and accurate service.

Our commitment to improvement

NPH is also committed to continuous improvement. As you begin using your new NPH Resource Catalog, you will notice significant improvements in format, product selection, and indexing. We hope these user-friendly improvements assist you in making your important purchasing decisions.

Working together as a ministry team, our goal at Nazarene Publishing House is to equip you with resources that build and nurture you, your church, and Christians around the world with the good news of life in Christ.

These resources include WordAction curriculum that presents God's truth through Sunday School and your teaching ministries; Lillenas publications for powerful worship and praise music plus message-driven drama; Beacon Hill Press for timely books and periodicals; and Crystal Sea Recordings for listening music that encourages and uplifts.

Together, we are partners in ministry!

Positively,

Bob Brower

The Course of Life

To begin a journey can be
Uncertain, unknowing and scary
In a world of chaos and confusion
It's easy to want answers, solutions
But harder to believe in a meaning
Of things like failure, pain and suffering
To take a leap, you must have faith
And trust you'll land on sure ground
Don't be afraid, we have each other
And together, we'll make it through
Because in the end, you'll still love me
And I will always love you.

Congratulations Mike - You did it! Always remember that everything happens for a reason - so don't ever give up and you can turn your dreams into beautiful realities!

I love you!

We Congratulate our Graduating Senior:

Steve Boel
and the ENC Graduating Class of 1998

Congratulations Mike!
We knew you could do it.
Love, Mom & Mark

Christie,

Congratulations on your graduation. We are so very proud of you and all that you achieved. You have met each challenge with courage and humor. You have learned many life lessons along the way and been better for it. Remember: "Trust in the Lord always..." and "Victory isn't in the winning, it's in the struggle to get there."

Love,

Mom, Dad & Julie

*May the road rise up to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
And the rains fall soft upon your fields,
And until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of His hand.

Christ Be With Me

I arise today through:

God's strength to pilot me,
God's might to uphold me,
God's wisdom to guide me,
God's eye to look before me,
God's ear to hear for me,
God's word to speak for me,
God's hand to guard me,
God's way to lie before me,
God's shield to protect me.

Christ be with me,
Christ before me,
Christ behind me,
Christ in me,
Christ beneath me,
Christ above me,
Christ on my right,
Christ on my left,
Christ when I lie down,
Christ when I sit down,
Christ when I arise,
Christ in the heart of everyone
who thinks of me,
Christ in the mouth of everyone
who speaks of me,
Christ in every eye that sees me,
Christ in every ear that hears me.

St. Patrick

*The Lord bless you and keep you.
The Lord lift His countenance upon you, and give you peace. The Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. Amen.*

JOY WILLEY SCOTT
Business Manager

June 23, 1998

Having done this last year, I thought this year's yearbook would be easier, and this letter would be much easier to write. That is not at all the case. If anything, I think it is harder, knowing my Senior year is over, and my time at ENC is done. And it's hard to realize the yearbook is almost done! When I turn in the last pages of layouts tomorrow, well, actually later this morning, I will be able to say the yearbook is basically done (other than the many proofs I will still have to correct)!

There are several people I need to express my thanks to, because without them, this yearbook would never have been completed - primarily my staff! First of all, Melissa. You did a wonderful job on the Ads section, and I know that you will be a wonderful person to edit the yearbook next year. It's a tough job at times, which I know you know, but it is so worth it. I don't really want to give it up, but I know you'll do a great job, and I hope that you will grow to love the Nautilus as much as I have! Joy, you have been a great Business Manager. Thank you for doing everything you could to keep us running financially as well as possible! Barb, I appreciate your willingness to continue to learn, even having been on staff so long. It was great to have you on staff! Amie, I'm grateful for your ability to get pages done well, even when there isn't much time. Audrey, I'm glad we only had to stay up until 4 AM once! But we had fun. Thank you for giving in to my pressures to be on staff -- I didn't give you much choice in the matter! Becky, thank you for your desire to work on the yearbook, after having not done yearbook lately! Christine, I really appreciate the time you spent to make the Faculty section look good, and be accurate. Jeff, thank you for your willingness to stick it out and get all the pages together on the computer, even though I know it must have been frustrating at times. And Joanna & Celeste, thank you for the pictures you took. A yearbook just wouldn't be the same without the pictures!

I also need to thank someone that most of you reading this will never see -- Chris Spelman, the best Jostens' rep we could have! Anytime I had a question or problem with the yearbook, you were always there to help me out. I have learned so much about the yearbook process, and I greatly appreciate everything you've done for me.

Finally, to all those people who stopped in to visit or write notes or draw on the board while I was working in the Nautilus office, and those of you asked if I ever left, or showed their support in any way, thank you for your friendship. It's always nice to have visitors in the office, and it helps remind me of why I am doing this -- it's your yearbook!

We all must leave ENC at some point, and I hope that this yearbook will help us all to remember each other and the joy of what we have shared in our journey here at ENC, the friendships formed and the lessons learned. Friends made here at ENC are friends for life. The experiences shared in classes and through living together have created bonds that will still be strong 10 or 20 years down the road. I hope that in this book you will find the photographs and words necessary to recapture the spirit of ENC. It is my wish that this yearbook will be something you hold onto and cherish, so that years from now, you can look back and remember the "Joy in the Journey."

I thank my God every time I remember you. In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray with joy...being confident of this, that He who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion. And this is my prayer: that your love may abound more and more in knowledge and depth of insight, so that you may be able to discern what is best and may be pure and blameless. Philippians 1:3-6, 9-10
